

This Week in the CRRC

MAY 16, 2021

ZOOMing in on Preeclampsia Research Virtual Seminar Series

Dr. Stefan Verlohren, Professor of Obstetrics at the Charite Medical University in Berlin, Germany, will present, “Angiogenic Factors to Predict Preeclampsia-related Adverse Outcomes in the Clinical Routine”,

Dr. Jenny Myers, Professor of Obstetrics and Maternal Medicine at the University of Manchester, will present, “Prediction and Prevention of Adverse Pregnancy Outcome in Women with Chronic Hypertension”, and Kavia Khosla, graduate student at the University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine, will present, “Telehealth Decreases Racial Disparities in Postpartum HTN Follow-up: Effects of the COVID-19 Pandemic”, on Mon, May 17th at 12 pm online via Zoom.

Department of Physiology Virtual Seminar

Dr. Jody Greaney, Assistant Professor in the Department of Kinesiology at the University of Texas Arlington, will give the Department of Physiology and Biophysics virtual seminar entitled, “Vascular Dysfunction in Adults with Major Depression: Mechanisms and Modulators” on Wed, May 19th, at 12 pm online via WebEx.

CRRC WIP Meetings will resume in September

Congratulations to Megha Satpathy, Biomedical Materials Science PhD student, on being awarded the 2020-2021 GWIMS Rising Star Award and for being nominated for both the 2020-2021 Resilient Spirit Award and the Trainee Recognition Award.

