

This Week in the CRRC

MAY 2, 2021

ZOOMing in on Preeclampsia Research Virtual Seminar Series

Dr. Zaleha Abdulla Mahdy, Professor of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at the National University of Malaysia will present, “The Role of Tocotrienol in Preeclampsia Prevention”, Dr. Liliya Yamaleyeva, Associate Professor in the Department of Surgery/Hypertension and Vascular Research at Wake Forest School of Medicine, will present, “At Preeclampsia diagnosis, total cell-free DNA concentration is Ultrasound-guided Photoacoustic Imaging– a Novel Tool for in-vivo Quantification of Placental Oxygenation”, on Mon, May 3rd at 12 pm online via Zoom.

Department of Physiology Virtual Seminar

Dr. Gordon Williams, Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School and Senior Physician at Brigham and Women’s Hospital, will give the Department of Physiology and Biophysics virtual seminar entitled, “Personalized Medicine: The Link Between People, Animals and Cells” on Wed, May 5th, at 12 pm online via WebEx.

Martin and Janorkar CRRC to present at WIP Meeting

Brigitte Martin, post doctoral fellow in the Department of Physiology and Biophysics, will present, “Cardiovascular changes during viral infection”, and Dr. Amol Janorkar, professor and chair of the Department of Biomedical Materials Science, will present “In Vitro Model of Liver Steatosis” Thursday, May 6, at 1 pm

online via Zoom.

Congratulations to Dr. Laura Coats, post-doctoral fellow in the Department of Physiology on receiving the 2021 Regions Outstanding Graduate Research Award at the School of Graduate Studies in the Health Sciences Honors Day Program. The Regions

Graduate Research Award is presented in recognition of outstanding research accomplishments by a graduate student.

Kudos

Submissions for newsletter:
crcc@umc.edu