

PROJECT NEWSLETTER UPDATE

"But wait, there's more!" - we hear it on the late-night infomercials and it is applicable to the Workday Student Implementation as well! With each milestone, we cross the team shifts focus to the next go-live and this one will be very important. Registration is a vital part of the academic year and that is what we are bringing live next. In the coming weeks, the project team will be testing the registration functionality and bringing in select end-users to test the functionality and the training materials. This valuable end-user input will help us make sure we have the tools to equip our students to do their next round of class registrations in the new system. Many hours are being logged to Make Your Workday Count!

Where are we in the project?
