

The Department of Psychiatry and Human Behavior of the University of Mississippi Medical Center (UMMC), the state's only academic health sciences center, invites applications for a psychiatrist specializing in adult inpatient care. UMMC has two inpatient units, one a 12-bed acute unit and a 14-bed medical psychiatric unit. In addition to providing inpatient care, the selected psychiatrist will provide outpatient care in both training and non-training settings and take call on rotation with other psychiatry faculty. Both inpatient units are important training sites for our Psychiatry Residency Training Program, our medical students, our Predoctoral Psychology Internship Program, and for trainees from allied health disciplines. In addition to compassionate clinical expertise, we seek someone with a passion for teaching and training. The successful candidate will provide clinical and academic leadership to the department.

This is a full-time position with academic rank based on the candidate's credentials. Salary will be commensurate with UMMC rank. Candidates must be license-eligible in Mississippi and board certified in adult psychiatry. Preference will be given to candidates with a demonstrated history of excellence in clinical care and clinical education. We are looking for a visionary and energetic leader who will foster a clinical environment marked by compassionate science-based care, and an educational and training environment with rich and innovative learning opportunities for medical students and residents. We welcome the successful candidate's pursuit of a research agenda as a component of their appointment.

Jackson is the capital city of Mississippi, a state with a rich cultural history that has greatly influenced the music, literature, and art of the rest of the world. It lies at a midpoint between Memphis and New Orleans, each of which is an easy three-hour drive, and Atlanta and Dallas, each about seven hours away. Barnett Reservoir provides ample local recreation opportunities and the Gulf of Mexico is less than three hours to the south. Ethnic, music, and culinary festivals abound during pleasant spring and fall weather.

The University of Mississippi Medical Center adheres to the principle of equal educational and employment opportunity without regard to race, sex, color, religion, marital status, age, national origin, disability or Veteran status. This policy extends to all programs and activities supported by the Medical Center. Under the provisions of Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972, the University of Mississippi Medical Center does not discriminate on the basis of sex in its educational programs or activities with respect to admissions or employment. The position will be open until it is filled.

Please apply by sending CV, brief vision statements on patient care, education, and research; and names of three references to Scott Rodgers, M.D. (srodgers@umc.edu), chair of the Department of Psychiatry and Human Behavior, University of Mississippi Medical Center.
